Description

Introductory description

Through tutor-led practical workshops, seminar discussions, and presentations, this first-year core module will introduce you to a range of contemporary performance practices including physical theatre, autobiographical work, clowning, performance poetry, stand-up comedy, drag, site-specific or site-oriented performance, and multi-media performance. You will explore these artistic practices through your own creative work, through watching videos and examining web-based and written documentation of theatre and performance, and, where possible, through theatre visits and artist-led workshops. During the year, you will experiment with various approaches to creating devised performance, and you will improve your own critical and creative responses to work seen and discussed. The module will form your first stepping stone towards developing your own artistic practice. It will introduce you to a diverse range of artists and approaches to making performance in order to open up plural ways of both thinking about and ways of making contemporary performance. In this sense, this module marks the beginning of your development as performance makers.

Module aims

This module will introduce students to a range of contemporary performances practices and practitioners. It will equip students with some core skills in order to lay the foundations for creating their own arts practice in the 2nd and 3rd year/beyond. It will also support students to understand workshop design and delivery. Finally, the module aims to encourage students to have an outward-facing sense of making performance for production via the website creation component of the final assessment.

Assessment

You must pass all assessment components to pass the module.

Assessment group A1

	Weighting	Study time
Portfolio	30%	8 hours
For the portfolio you need to research a company or artist not studied in the module and develop an introductory workshop for undergraduate students based on their practices. The Portfolio has two parts: (1) an introduction to the company and their work, aesthetics, politics, and history (1000 words) and (2) a detailed workshop plan (1500 words plus images and illustrations) for one three-hour practical session inspired by the artist's work. The workshop should aim to equip participants with one key competency in performance making. The portfolio can contain up to 10 images and/or illustrations. These will not count towards the overall word count. The submission must be a digital portfolio (submitted via Tabula).
Live performance	70%	40 hours

- 15-20-minute live performance and website documentation

Feedback on assessment

Students will receive written feedback on all assessments. Students will also be offered one-to-one or small group tutorials on their assessment (as fits the task & individual or group). Students will also be able to discuss their feedback with their personal tutors.
