Description

Introductory description

This module is the culmination of learning from across the Industry Strand. Students will engage in a residency with an organisation in the cultural / creative sector. During this time students will use their previous learning to engage in the workplace and gain a more in-depth understanding of the relationship between theory and practice in the sector. Through this experience and reflection a critical approach will be developed gaining insights into how each can inform the other whilst also providing valuable experience and networking opportunities.

Module aims

The principal aim of the module is to gain practical experience in the operation or development of a media, creative, cultural organisation through a residency or extended Workplace Study and critically reflect upon that experience and research in terms of capacity to shape, influence or impact an organisation. The module combines theory and practice (developed in Years 1 and 2) to equip students with an in-depth understanding of the creative, media and cultural sectors and their burgeoning role within them. The module will include a significant element of work experience or workplace study with an organisation in the form of residency or directed client brief which will develop the students' working knowledge and critical thinking about work practices and challenges of these sectors. It will develop a student's initiative, ability to take decisions and risks and develop their ambitions. Through their interactions with professionals, the module will aim to dissolve students' assumptions on the nature of employment within the contemporary creative, cultural and media sectors.

Outline syllabus

This is an indicative module outline only to give an indication of the sort of topics that may be covered. Actual sessions held may differ.

Term 1: Preparing for The Residency/Client

- Creating a residency/client experience
- Pitching your Self, turning up and developing the 'right attitude'
- Negotiating a residency/client experience
- Exploring media, creative, digital or cultural production for the benefit of an employer
- Communication skills - leading workshops, delivering presentations, report writing, creative documentation
- Research skills for industry
- Evaluation including self-evaluation skills

Terms 2/3* - The Residency (4-6 weeks)

The underpinning seminars to support the residency/extended placement will take the form of:

- Compiling a detailed PESTLE analysis for a live organisation of your choice
- Running a stand-alone project and being a self-starter
- Undertaking research into a particular area of operation leading to a set of recommendations to an organisation (e.g. market research)
- Undertaking an action/research project
- Developing a new product or service
- Developing a new policy or an approach to a new strand of operation (or refining/improving an existing one)
- Using numbers and Big Data (excel, data and statistics) to inform your Residency/Client Brief

*In some circumstances and in consultation with the employer/client, being able to develop the student's own area of interest supported by the host organisation/client-led project, the student may need to be flexible in terms of timings.

Learning outcomes

By the end of the module, students should be able to:

- Demonstrate an understanding of the sector within which an organisation operates and critically evaluate the future of the sector
- Understand where the organisation sits in a wider context - both within its sector and more widely (cultural, technological, political, local, national etc) and how it is affected by the environment it operates within.

- Reflect on challenges the organisations faces and how it addresses these, with particular reference to the specific area of work in the residency or client brief
- Gain practical or client-focused experience in the operation or development of a media, creative or cultural organisation through a residency or extended workplace study
- Explore and evaluate the management practices of a media, creative or cultural organisation in comparison to sectoral practices
- Reflect critically on the student's own contribution to understanding the operation and culture of the organisation
- Understanding how to work effectively within an organisational context or with a client
