Description

Introductory description

This module is aimed at developing advanced skills in the composition, rehearsal, and performance of an ensemble theatre piece. In practice, it has two strands. The first strand is a series of workshops and discussions on approaches to devising and developing performance as an ensemble. The second strand is working with a theatre company or artist to create a devised project (or projects) for presentation. Over the course of the module, students will be introduced to a diversity of concepts and techniques, building up a creative 'tool box' that will help them to get their ideas on their feet in the rehearsal room. Students will spend time on research; engaging with contemporary socio-political contexts, issues, themes and debates. They will also engage in group work as an integral part of the compositional process; commenting and reflecting on their development as collaborative artists.

Module aims

To explore professional and contemporary approaches to devised and ensemble performance.

To develop an understanding of practice-based research methodologies within contemporary performance.

To build skills in group work and collaboration.

To engage with the work of professional theatre companies and/or artists.

	Weighting	Study time	Eligible for self-certification
Assessment component
Devised piece	70%	100 hours	No
A devised, ensemble piece of performance that has been co-created with staff, other students, and with an external practitioner or company.

Reassessment component

Reflective essay concerning the devised piece and the student's role within in	Yes (extension)
--	-----------------

In the event that a student fails the devised assessment, they will be required to write a reflective piece on the performance and their role within it. This should consider any failings or limitations regarding the piece, as well as their own role within this. They should seek to engage in dialogue with any feedback they have received that concerns the failure to pass the assessment.

	Weighting	Study time	Eligible for self-certification
Assessment component
Self and peer assessment	30%	50 hours	No
For this assessment, students will be placed in reflective learning groups. Throughout the devising process they should meet to discuss how they feel the project is progressing and their own participation and contribution to the piece, as well as that of others in their allocated groups. The intention here is to create a supportive community of practice, and students are assessed on their ability to listen to and support one another through reflections.
