Description

Introductory description

Students will be introduced to basic forms of language in spoken form that are used in practical everyday situations. They will also learn basic linguistic tools for reading and writing.

Activities will be devised to ensure students can understand and can use the language presented during the lessons. New language will be practised via games, role-plays, and problem-solving tasks.

Module aims

- to introduce students to the basics of the language in written and oral form
- to begin to develop strategies for language learning
- to raise intercultural awareness
- to equip students in survival linguistic skills
